Tuesday, November 15th, Emory Morsberger to discuss efforts to support refugees in Ukraine

By Dean Bright on Friday, November 11, 2022

Emory Morsberger currently serves as President for Tucker Summit CID and Executive Director for Gateway85 CID – one of the region's largest CIDs covering 14-square miles and directs all activities for these two metro Atlanta Community Improvement Districts.

Emory Graduated from Emory College and then received an MBA in Finance from the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania. He created and grew a data security company in the 80's and served in the Georgia State Legislature in the early 90's, representing Gwinnett County. He has served on numerous local, state, and federal boards and authorities.

Emory has been involved in numerous real estate projects including the creation of Ponce City Market and the redevelopment of Lawrenceville. He created five of the thirty CIDs in Metro Atlanta and has been involved in the formation or expansion of six others. On November 15, Emory will be honored with the CID Professional Excellence Award from the Council for Quality Growth at a ceremony that annually acknowledges the work of all metro CIDs and presents the award to leaders who have greatly impacted the region.

In June, following a trip to Ukraine to deliver much-needed medical supplies to hospitals near the front lines of the war, Emory has been focused on raising funds to purchase and ship more critical medical supplies, focusing on surgical equipment and newborn incubators that can function in areas with unreliable power. He launched www.helpingukraine.us to help in the effort. Emory and wife, Janet, have seven daughters and reside in Lilburn. One of his goals is to visit every country in the world—Turkey was his 104th country.
