Holly serves as the Director of Economic Development for the City of Perry. In this role, she serves as a liaison between the business community and the local government. She supports the attraction of new businesses to Perry and manages Perry's Downtown Development Authority. Prior to this role, she served as the City of Perry's Community Planner. Before joining the City of Perry, she worked at the Middle Georgia Regional Commission as a Government Services Specialist. Holly has a bachelor's degree in economics from Berry College and a Masters of Public Administration from Georgia College and State University. She enjoys spending time outdoors with her husband Drew playing pickleball and corn hole and taking her hound dog for walks. Holly is originally from Sparta, Tennessee.
