Club of Sanibel-Captiva

Friday's Speaker

This week will be hearing from Shawn Clem and Sarah Lathrop Sauerland, Corkscrew Swamp Sanctuary

Shawn Clem, PhD

Director of Research

Dr. Shawn Clem is the Research Director of Audubon Florida's Western Everglades Research Center, located at Corkscrew Swamp Sanctuary. Dr. Clem is a community ecologist with twenty years of experience in researching and describing the ecology, hydrology, and impacts from environmental stressors on our region, with past positions and projects at Everglades National Park, Audubon's Everglades Science Center in Tavernier, and Big Cypress National Preserve.

Helping establish our research center in 2013, Dr. Clem is focused on filling science gaps in order to answer critical questions about Western Everglades' conservation and restoration. Current long-term monitoring projects include tracking and understanding hydrology, Wood Storks and other wildlife changes at Corkscrew, gauging restoration success on Panther Island Mitigation Bank, and documenting changes in fish communities within the Picayune Strand Restoration Project. Under her direction, Audubon's research program is focused on better understanding and describing our region's unique ecology in light of increased environmental pressures, and using this understanding to guide wetland conservation, stewardship, and restoration throughout the boundaries of Corkscrew and beyond.

Dr. Clem is the founder and leader of the annual Corkscrew Watershed Science Forum, co-director of Corkscrew's Conservation Internship program; co-organizer of Audubon Florida's Conservation Leadership Initiative; adjunct graduate faculty at Florida Gulf Coast University (FGCU); and a Research Affiliate of FGCU's Everglades Wetland Research Park. Dr. Clem earned her BS, Marine Science and Mathematics; minor, Chemistry: Eckerd College, 1998 and her PhD, Biology: Florida International University, 2004.

Sarah Sauerland

Senior Development Manager

Sarah has been a part of the Audubon flock since 2019 and is the Senior Development Manager for Audubon Florida. Sarah serves as a relations manager for philanthropic partnerships that support Audubon's work throughout Southwest Florida and Corkscrew Swamp Sanctuary's education, research, and land management programs.

Hailing from Indianapolis, Sarah has lived and worked in conservation in Florida since 2013. She earned her BA in Spanish and a certificate in business from Hanover College. Prior to joining Audubon, Sarah served as the Associate Director of the "Ding" Darling Wildlife Society – Friends of the J.N. "Ding" Darling National Wildlife Refuge on Sanibel Island. Sarah's nearly 10 years of fundraising experience also includes the higher education sector as well as earning her Certificate in Nonprofit Management from the Indiana University Lilly School of Philanthropy.

Conservation is not only a professional calling of Sarah's, but also a personal passion. She enjoys every outdoor nature activity and spends her free time hiking, kayaking, fishing, beaching, birding, and boating. Sarah values contributing to her communities and has completed the Associate Leadership Collier program. She has held volunteer posts with the Sanibel-Captiva Conservation Foundation's sea turtle program and the Young Professionals Association of Sanibel & Captiva.
