Speaker for Monday, July 28 -- Sandy Cook, Halifax Repertory Theatre

Sandy Cook is the Executive Director and Co-Founder of Halifax Repertory Theatre (HRT), a 501(c)(3) nonprofit dedicated to bringing high-quality musical theatre back to the Eastern Volusia County community. She and her husband, Jack, founded HRT four years ago in response to the noticeable decline in live musical theatre opportunities for teens and adults post-COVID. Having both grown up in the area during a time when the arts thrived, they were passionate about restoring that creative outlet for the next generation.

HRT offers voice and dance instruction, produces full-scale musicals, and uses its Ormond Beach studio for auditions and rehearsals—renting larger local theaters for performances. Upcoming shows include Guys and Dolls at the News-Journal Center (July 25–August 3), Annie in October, and Jingles and Jammies in December at the Ormond Beach Performing Arts Center.

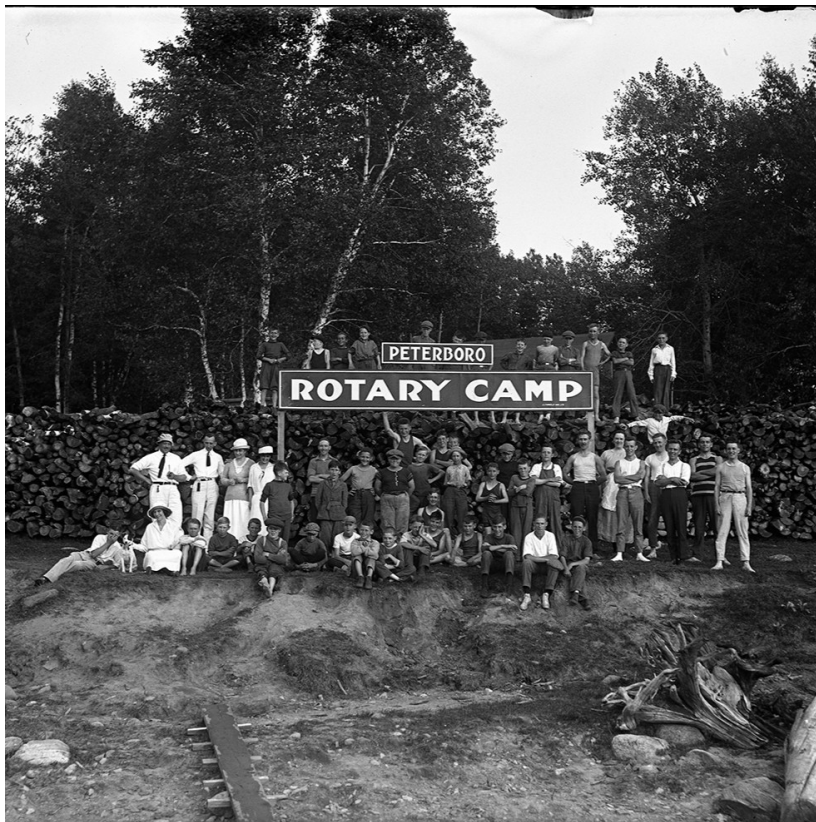

Before founding HRT, Sandy spent 25 years as a performer and in the legal field as a paralegal. She decided to leave her career and dedicate her efforts to building the Halifax Repertory Theater. Her husband, Jack Cook, is a trial partner at Morgan & Morgan and Halifax Repertory's biggest supporter.

Together, they are building something special for the community—bringing an elite level of musical theater entertainment to East Volusia County. Community support is vital to their mission, and they encourage everyone to attend performances and consider becoming sponsors to help this vision continue to grow.

How it started, how it's going!

Camp Kawartha began in 1921 as a Rotary boys camp, helping kids connect with nature. Now open to everyone, it maintains its Rotary connections and operates on its founding values of curiosity, gratitude, and mentorship with the natural world.

Now You Know, July 27, 2025

you know.

One of the charming things about Rotary is its long-standing traditions—some practical, some playful. The name “Rotary” itself comes from the early days when members rotated meetings among their offices. That spirit of shared leadership and collaboration still runs deep today.

Many clubs also have their own unique customs. Some sing songs before or after meetings (yes, really!), while others have inside jokes, happy dollars, or playful fines for members who forgot their pin or showed up late. These light-hearted rituals build camaraderie and keep the meetings fun and engaging.

Even the bell and gavel have meaning: the bell opens and closes the meeting, symbolizing order and tradition, while the gavel represents leadership passed from one club president to the next.

These traditions remind us that while Rotary is serious about service, it also values connection, history, and a good laugh along the way.

Your Story Is Rotary's Superpower

Want to grow your club, attract new members, and energize your community? Start with storytelling. The new blog post from Zones 33/34 — “Rotary Storytelling: Inspire Through Authentic Voices” — explains how clubs are using real, human stories to elevate Public Image and inspire action.

This isn't just about PR. It's about purpose.

Read the post: <https://www.rizones33-34.org/rotary-storytelling-inspire/>

Then ask: What's YOUR story? Who can you inspire?

Share this with your club. Start a conversation.

Let's make storytelling the most powerful tool in our Rotary toolbox.

The Four Way Test

Is it the truth?
Is it fair to all concerned?
Will it build goodwill
and better friendships
Will it be beneficial to all concerned?"
