Fun fact: "Hail and farewell" is a phrase used to express both greeting and goodbye. It literally translates to "be well and farewell" from the Latin phrase "ave atque vale".

Here's a breakdown of its meaning and usage:

- Greeting and Goodbye: It acknowledges someone's arrival while also bidding them farewell at the same time.
- Military Tradition: This phrase is particularly common in military contexts. It's used for ceremonies that welcome new members to a unit while honoring those who are departing.
- Other Uses: "Hail and farewell" can also be used more generally to mark transitions or changes in leadership within organizations.
- Formal Tone: The phrase carries a somewhat formal tone, making it suitable for more official occasions.

Of course, in our case, we are showing appreciation for all Pres Leslie Redd has done during her term of presidency. And, welcoming and celebrating PE Lisamarie Winslow into her term.

Mayor Donna Deegan of Jacksonville, FL was introduced by Bill Langelly at the Rotary meeting, where she delivered a compelling address marked by both authority and approachability. Standing at the podium, Mayor Deegan passionately outlined recent initiatives aimed at enhancing infrastructure, education, and economic growth in the city. Her speech vividly portrayed a future Jacksonville that was thriving and inclusive, underpinned by community resilience and civic engagement.

Throughout the meeting, Mayor Deegan engaged the audience with humor and personal anecdotes, demonstrating her profound understanding of local issues and her proactive leadership style. Many questions were raised by Rotary members, reflecting their keen interest in the city's development. Mayor Deegan answered each query thoughtfully, highlighting her commitment to transparency and collaboration with the community.

The exchange included insightful questions on topics such as cultural funding at the Florida State level and the relocation of the jail, among others. These discussions further underscored the depth of engagement and the members' commitment to Jacksonville's progress.

By the conclusion of the meeting, Mayor Deegan had left a lasting impression on the Rotary members, reaffirming their shared dedication to shaping Jacksonville's future. Her address not only informed but also showcased her unwavering dedication to public service and her vision for a prosperous and cohesive city.

receives check from Jennifer May

Alexa Stucke (middle of bottom picture), Associate Director of Sanctuary on 8th, received a heartfelt check from South Jacksonville Rotary's Community Chair, Jennifer May, in a touching ceremony that underscored the Rotary's dedication to community service. The event, held at South Jacksonville Rotary's lunch meeting 06-18-2024, symbolized a strong partnership aimed at supporting vulnerable populations in Jacksonville. Alexa Stucke expressed deep gratitude for the Rotary's generosity, emphasizing how the donation would directly benefit their programs and enhance their ability to provide essential services to those in need. Jennifer May (center right) highlighted the Rotary's commitment to making a positive impact locally, reinforcing their mission of service and compassion. The ceremony exemplified the collaborative spirit between nonprofit organizations and community-focused groups like the South Jacksonville Rotary, united in their efforts to foster a stronger, more supportive community. Rotary member Lynn Bauman (on far right) won recognition of this charity at the South Jacksonville Derby Gala. The two girls were from Sanctuary on 8th, and they came with Alexa Stucke the Associate Director. They are rising 6th graders.

Vincent Saladino of Jacksonville University receives check from Pres Leslie Redd

Vincent Saladino of Jacksonville University stood proudly beside South Jacksonville Rotary president Leslie Redd as she presented him with a generous check. The event, held at our weekly lunch meeting on 06-18-2024, celebrated the enduring partnership between the institution and the Rotary club. As Leslie Redd handed over the symbolic gesture, Vincent Saladino expressed heartfelt gratitude on behalf of Jacksonville University, emphasizing the transformative impact the donation would have on campus initiatives. The exchange not only underscored the Rotary club's commitment to supporting education and community development but also highlighted the collaborative spirit that thrives between local organizations and educational institutions in Jacksonville.
