PRESIDENT'S CORNER

“Imagine Rotary” - That is our theme for the incoming Rotary Year. Somewhat vague if you ask me! I like to think the intent was to leave it that way to allow the mind to think big for the up coming year. They could have made it “Image What Rotary Can Do” or “Image Who Rotary Can Help” but the specifically just decided to leave it as “Imagine Rotary”. I would like to take the time to ask each one of you to Imagine what you would like to get out of Rotary this year and what you would like to see our club most involved in to help our community and the world. I will try and give each one of you a call in the coming month to hear your responses!

This month's theme is New Leadership, and these books address the skills needed to become a leader.

Steven Covey, The 7 Habits of Highly Effective People. A classic, with a 30th anniversary edition. The habits include "begin with the end in mind" and "think win/win," and Covey shows how adopting them can make you more effective both as a leader and in life.

John Maxwell, The 21 Irrefutable Laws of Leadership, is also a classic, updated for its 25th anniversary.

Brene' Brown, Dare to Lead. This book came out in 2018. Brown writes that "leadership is a collection of four skill sets that are 100 percent teachable, observable, and measurable. It's learning and unlearning that requires brave work, tough conversations, and showing up with your whole heart."

Many Rotary clubs paused from their work on Mother's Day to do honor to those who really gave Rotary to the world—the Mothers of Men! The Rotary club of Sayre, Pa., held a "Mother's Day" luncheon, each Rotarian acting as a host to his mother. During the course of the luncheon, prizes were given to the oldest mother present, to the mother who had the honor of rearing the largest number of children, and a beautiful bouquet of carnations was presented to another of the group who had given two sons to her country.

The Rotary club of Panama staged a clever stunt recently when the members held their regular luncheon on a parade float during the Panama Carnival. There was a one-hundred-per-cent attendance and each member thoroughly enjoyed the novelty meeting as well as the excellent menu on which roast turkey was the headliner.

As a feature of its Boys' Week activities, the Rotary club of Evansville, Ind., were hosts to one thousand boys at a baseball game. In the picture is Johnny Mee (in uniform) manager of the Evansville team of the Three-I-League; J. C. Greer, president of the Evansville Rotary club, and Fred Cissna, "one of the boys".

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS OF ROTARY INTERNATIONAL
1922-1923

The "Rotary Minstrels" of the Rotary club of Guelph, Ont. After a lapse of several years the Rotarians have succeeded in reviving minstrelsy in the community and although only a few performances have been given they have already earned an enviable reputation as a musical organization. Early in the year a benefit show added over $1,000 to the Rotary club's Sunshine and Crippled Children Funds.
