(SBC) offers how-to seminars, a resource center, and one-on-one counseling designed to help the business owner and/or business owner-to-be better understand owning and operating a business.

Often people start, for example, a restaurant because family and friends tell them their food is good. BUT there is much more to know and understand before embarking on the restaurant journey. The same is true for most business owners.

While we do not write business plans, we do help our clients tweak their plans in hopes of starting and growing their respective venture.
