Wilbur D. Jones, Jr., is a nationally known, award-winning author and military historian in Wilmington, N. C. A Wilmington native, he grew up there during World War II, which shaped his life.

For 12-1/2 years, he conceived, organized, and led a successful project seeking national recognition for Wilmington as the first "American World War II Heritage City," working with the state's congressional delegation. In March 2019 President Trump signed into law a bill sponsored by Sen. Thom Tillis and Rep. David Rouzer establishing that national preservation program. On September 2, 2020, at the Battleship North Carolina, Trump announced the designation by the Secretary of the Interior of Wilmington as the first World War II Heritage City, calling out Jones in prepared remarks.

Currently, he is heavily involved in planning WWII activities to commemorate America 250.

Great Time at the Rotary Christmas Party

President Brent and First Lady Lauren were our hosts at our Annual Cape Fear Rotary Club Christmas Party at Cape Fear Country Club last week. Our dinner was excellent as usual and Ducky was our DJ for the evening. After dinner, we sang a few Christmas carols and some even danced to the music.

Meals on Wheels

President Brent had the winning raffle ticket two weeks ago. Unfortunately he didn't pull the Queen of Hearts and he didn't get to split $1802. The pot will probably be $1900 this week. Come by and get in on the action.
