This Week at Rotary, Meade Van Pelt, The Harrelson Center

The Jo Ann Carter Harrelson Center is a nonprofit center that provides services and a place of collaboration for organizations to serve people in need. It is a place where needs are met, dreams are fostered and hope abounds. Meade began as Executive Director on December 1, 2016. She is involved in the community through her church, The Ministering Circle, the Community Counseling Center board and much more. Meade holds a BA in Mass Communication/Media Studies from UNC Chapel Hill and a MBA Business Administration and Management from the University of North Carolina at Wilmington. Meade and her husband, Joel Van Pelt, have two children, Max and Josie

Last Week at Rotary, Beth Gaglione, Food Bank

Beth Gaglione with the Eastern and Central North Carolina Food Bank joined us last and gave us interesting information about the Food Bank and also dispelled a few myths about its work.

Our MVP for the golf tournament

We are still basking in the halo of a super successful golf tournament. The money is still coming in but we're thinking we raised some of the largest amounts ever. Chairman Andy wanted to recognize President Gus for being the most valuable Rotarian for this years tournament. He was responsible for 14 teams, a few silver sponsorships and multiple hole sponsorships. Thanks Gus!!
