This Week at Rotary Jen Wilson-Mathis GLOW Academy

Jen has been a part of the GLOW Academy for over four years, first (and still) as a parent to two GLOW students and then as its Admissions + Outreach Director. Jen's background has been focused on communications, admissions, and community relations with over twenty years in brand management, media, PR, enrollment, event planning and project management. She is a certified Red Cross Instructor, has served in various Chair positions on New Hanover County School's PTAs, is a former Girl Scout volunteer on the troop and council levels, and has volunteered her time with the Food Bank of Eastern North Carolina, NourishNC, the Little Red Wagon program, and proudly started serving her community as soon as she could read, taking attendance at fire calls with her Dad who was a 45-year member of the Town of Mamaroneck Fire Department, in NY.

Last Week at Rotary

Our speaker last week was Dr. Amanda Willard, professor at UNCW. Dr. Willard is the director of the Willard Lab where she studies marine reptiles and how they function in their environment. Very interesting.

Check Presentation

We haven't done this in a while. We presented a big check (in more than one way) last week to Meals on Wheels. We support Meals on Wheels every week with our raffle at the end of each meeting. The last cycle went on for months and generated a large donation that we were able to present last week. Way to go President Brent. (Photographer might have been asleep)

Fun Day at Jungle Rapids

Andy has contacted fellow member Bob Rippey, owner of Jungle Rapids, and Bob has graciously invited our entire club to bring their family to Rotary Day at Jungle Rapids. We're scheduled to come at 10am on the Saturday before Labor Day Weekend, August 24th. Mark it on your calendar. This event was a lot of fun last year. Bob got us in the water park and even provided lunch. Thanks Bob, and thanks Andy for lining this up for us.

Breakfast Suprise Last Week

President Brent gave us a suprise last week, he arranged the number 1 catering company in town to cater our breakfast and it was really good. Middle of the Island is scheduled for tomorrow as well so come by and check it out.

Meals on Wheels
